BE PATIENT WITH THE LIVING.

Sweet friend, when thou and I are gone
Beyond earth's weary labor,
When small shall be our need of grace
From comrade or from neighbor;
Past all the strife, the toil, the care,
And done with all the sighing;
What tender truth shall we have gained,
Alas, by simply dying?

Then lips too chary of their praise
Will tell our merits over,
And eyes too swift our faults to see,
Shall no defects discover;
Then hands that would not lift a stone
Where stones were thick to cumber
Our steep hill-path, will scatter flowers
Above our pillowed slumber.

Sweet friend, perchance both thou and I,
Ere love is past forgiving,
Should take the earnest lesson home;
Be patient with the living!
To-day's repressed rebuke may save
Our blinding tears to-morrow;
Then patience, e'en when keenest edge
May whet a nameless sorrow.

'Tis easy to be gentle when
Death's silence shames our clamor,
And easy to discern the best
Through memory's mystic glamor;
But wise it were for thee and me,
Ere love is past forgiving,
To take the tender lesson home;
Be patient with the living.
—Good Cheer.

He Wanted a Car to Himself.

When the Duke of Sutherland left his 1,000-ton yacht at Fortress Monroe and ran up through here to New York to catch a steamer for Europe his grace was very much bothered by the curiosity of his fellow pasengers in the Pullman, who stared at him as if he were an escaped lunatic. This wasn't the worst, though. Somehow the news of his passage had got ahead of the train, and at every station the doors and windows had as many eyes as Argus, all centered on him. Finally he called the conductor and whispered to him, The functionary shook his head in reply and walked away muttering to himself. "Some folks want the earth for a quarter," he said, when he got out of earshot of the duke. "Why?" "Oh, his nobs there, says 'I can't travel with this mob. Can't you give me a car to myself?'"

By the way, his grace was the worst dressed man in the car—shabby yachting flannels and a battered derby. But this sort of thing is proverbial with peers.—Philadelphia Press.

French at the Church Fair.

We know a San Francisco woman who is so stuck on her newly acquired French that she has forgotten how to read English. She went to a church fair not long ago and was heard to whisper anxiously to her husband: "John, John, mon cher, what is that sign over the booth where that jolie fille is standing? 'Le Monade?' I know what the le is, but I can't make out the monade. Oh! Mon Dieu! Think how I shall feel if some one, knowing my proficiency in French, asks me to translate it?" John (who don't care much for French nor for church fairs either)—"Well, I call that plain, ordinary, sour, wet lemonade, and whatever it is it is marked 25 cents a glass, so come away from it."—San Francisco News Letter.

The Sunday-Closing Act in Wales.

The Welshmen who do not approve of Sunday-closing acts, have improved upon a device common in Scotland. In the north country you can sometimes get a glass of whisky on Sunday if you pay sixpence for a biscuit to eat with it. The drawback here has always been that some persons have drunk the whisky and then given the biscuit back. But in Wales a barber undertakes to shave you on Sunday at a higher charge than that made on week days, and to refresh you he gives you a glass of beer. It has become so common for Welshmen to defer getting shaved till Sunday that the law has interfered; and Sunday shaving is now called liquor-selling without a license.—St. James' Gazette.

Some New Reportorial Ear-Marks.

"You can always tell when there is a new reporter in town," said an old stager the other night.

"How is that?" was asked.

"Well, he is sure to do one of three things. He will write up Capt. Bill Fuller's race after the State road train stealers, or he will interview the goat-wagon man, who wants 5 cents because he can't walk, or he will tell about how one of Sheridan's bombshells knocked a hole in a lamp-post at St. James' bank corner. If the new reporter is extra sharp he will write all three.—Atlanta Constitution.

The names conjured up by Dickens are more than matched by recent subscribers to The New York World, from a list of which the following are selected: Pickles, Neiderfrankensteinhauser, Peterfish, Cowhog, Loofborrow, Mussmaker, Tyranny, Bighost, Vinegar, Souse, Freelove, Toogood, Whiteneck, Sufficool, Coon, Eyestone, Shivers, Shad, Sample, Dingledog, Pancake, Turnipseed.—Chicago Tribune.

New Use for Old Ironclads.

The French naval authorities have hit upon a novel use for their obsolete ironclads. The antiquated Armide was recently towed out to sea and allowed to drift while six great men-of-war steamed about firing at her at different ranges. The vessel was then towed in and the effects carefully examined. This is said to be the first use made of a moving target by the French.—New Orleans Times Democrat.

An Opera Company for Americans.

The success of the first season of the American Opera company has been such as to warrant the management in making elaborate arrangements for next season. It is the intention, in the language of the manager, "to give Americans an opera company that is their own, exactly as Germany, Italy, France, and even Russia have grand opera sung, and each in the native tongue."—The Current.

Flowers Exported for Their Sugar.

The Maluva tree of central India (bassia latifolia) bears flowers which are now being exported to Europe for their sugar, of which they contain more than half their weight. The tree resembles the oak, and a single specimen sometimes bears a ton of flowers.—Boston Budget.

Novels at a Penny Apiece.

The practice of cheap publishing in England is about to reach its lowest level in the issue of a series of new, original novels by well known writers, printed in demy 8vo on fair paper with striking covers, at a penny apiece.

Fifty American dairy cows were shipped to China a short time ago from San Francisco.

EXPENSIVE ODDITIES

WHICH ARE BOUGHT BY WEALTHY PEOPLE FOR THEIR DOGS.

The Freaks of Fashionable Ladies as Manifested in Canine Collars—Gems of Artistic Skill—Dogs of the Various Cities—A Dog's Dress.

In 1879 there was not over $4,000 invested in the United States in dog collars, while to-day over $500,000 is annually expended in this line of canine adornment. Many a dog belonging to a Boston or New York dude or dudine possesses a collar which costs more than the entire wardrobe of many a man or woman of respectable social standing, and it is said that once a New York gentleman sent a dog collar worth $18,000 to a young lady whom he fancied rather than her dog. The collar was made of gold and ornate with diamonds, rubies and garnets. $20 is considered a not extravagant sum in these fashionable cities to be expended on their favorites, or rather $200 is quite an ordinary sum to pay for a dog collar. There is as much fashion in a dog collar as there is in the cut of a coat, for each breed of dog has a different collar to suit his particular line of beauty or the color of his hair.

GEMS OF ARTISTIC SKILL.

There are collars which are gems of artistic skill, then there are other collars which almost strike awe into the beholder from their warlike aspect; then again there are silk, velvet, satin and feather collars decorated with bells and bangles. In the cities of Philadelphia and New York the bangle collar is extremely fashionable, and it is considered quite a mark of honor for a young lady to ask her gentleman friends for their monograms or a new $5 piece to attach it to their dog's collars. Many a proud pug, when a pug was fashionable, could be seen in the cities with a $500 dog-collar and about twenty $5 pieces attached to his collar. In truth, the manufacture of the dog-collar has brought about the necessity of the dog. Ladies who before destested dogs have been known to purchase largely after they came under the fascinating influence of an expensive dog-collar. Dog men will tell you that fashionable Boston and New York ladies generally purchase their collars first, and then have the town scoured for a dog to fit it. Men, too, who have determined to be ultra-fashionable are not unlike in this respect. The handsome dog-collar brought on the dog craze.

Boston, as before remarked, is par excellence in the city for dogs, it being said that a dog of any pure breed whatever will easily bring $75 to $100, while in dog collars Boston spends $50,000. New York can not show such figures. San Francisco is now spending $10,000 in dog collars and it is estimated that within the next five years this city will more than double that amount. Philadelphia stands high in the estimation of dog men, but there the dogs patronized are of the smaller breeds. In Minneapolis the dog men find a congenial city. It is simply overran with dogs—curs and good dogs—and the peculiarity of the townspeople of Minneapolis is that they all want their dogs collared. Chicago, too, shows well, spending a great deal of money in dogs and on their collars. The people of St. Louis are loth to part with dollars for dogs and much less so for collars, while Denver, for its small size, is mentioned in terms of respectful admiration. Kansas City, Mo., is liberal in purchase, and it is expected that within a few years there will be larger purchases there than in St. Louis. The cities which spend most in dogs and dog collars are in this order: Boston, Philadelphia, New York, Chicago, San Francisco, St. Louis, Cincinnati and Hartford. But fashion springs in New York, from New York come the rules which govern the style, for New York are especially manufactured the latest novelties.

BIG DOGS ARE IN DEMAND.

In the eastern states big dogs are in demand, the western states are undecided, but take a mixture of large and small, while San Francisco is pronouncedly for the small dog. The pug has become vulgar. When the pug was a high-priced animal there was not a woman of wealth in the east of taste and position who did not have a pug. Pugs were imported wholesale. A pug was no longer a rara avis, but has gone decidedly out of fashion. From the obese and ugly, ill-proportioned pug public dog affection set itself upon the burly mastiff, the huge Newfoundland, the sagacious St. Bernard, the treacherous collie, and the ferocious bloodhound. Always high-priced, their values rose higher. Fabulous sums were given for any of these kinds. But the sun of popularity of the mastiff, the collie and the Newfoundland is already in the wane and that of the fox-terrier and the St. Bernard is in the ascendant.

A fashionable dog's dress does not always solely consist of his collar, as did the Maori chiefs' full dress when invited to a British ball. There are boots for dogs who are afflicted with sore feet; there are coats for dogs, anklets for dogs, and, above all, harness for the pretty pets. The full-dress harness at first a excited little ridicule, it being made so that a number of straps should go around the dog's body, and so that when he came to a muddy crossing the lady could pick him up and carry him across the street in the same manner a man has to carry to a railway station a number of parasols loosely done up in a shawl. It soon became the rage in in New York, and the ladies declared that the boots and the full dress prevented a great deal of pneumonia. It was, after a good deal of thought, decided that dogs should not be led by collar and chain, as the sudden haul upon the dog's neck when he turned a corner against his mistress' inclination was noticed in many cases to cause a rush of blood to the dog's head; so invention was brought to bear, and after several scientific meetings on the part of the ladies, the manufacturers were told to make an extension harness, so that strain should be brought upon the shoulders.—San Francisco Chronicle.

A Cure for the Nose Bleed.

An old English charm for curing nose bleed is a curious one. If a person is subject to nose bleed he may effect a cure by going to a person of the opposite sex and requesting him or her to purchase a piece of lace, such as may be specified, for the person making the request. When the lace is brought the person must take it and neither pay for it nor return thanks for it. He must make a necktie out of the lace and wear it for nine days, and he will never have the nose bleed again.—Philadelphia Call.

Caterpillars Affected by Electricity.

It has been demonstrated by Mr. J. W. Slater that caterpillars are affected by magnetic currents, which hinder their development and even kill them.—Boston Budget.

A SPECIES OF STREET-BEGGING.

Which Is Very Prevalent on the Streets of a Leading Western City.

"Catching" is a new term for that very prevalent species of street-begging which is being carried on extensively on our streets at this time. Hardly any one who has occasion to be on the large thoroughfares of the city after 6 o'clock in the evening escapes the vigilant eye of the "catcher." The term arises perhaps from the fact that this species of begging is outlawed, as it is made a business of, and the person who contributes his mite to these people would be surprised and hurt if he really knew that his charitable intentions were entirely misplaced, and that the mendicants spent the nickels and dimes in some convenient saloon for beer or drinks of some other kind. These "catchers" seldom ply their vocation until the shades of night begin to fall, and they are encountered oftener in the vicinity of some public place. One can hardly pass Bessehi's on Broadway, without being tackled, and where the bright rays of the electric light verge into shadows and darkness a short distance from the door of some "all night" eating house, or around and near to the entrance of the great caravansaries of the down-town thoroughfares, these mendicants are sure to be found. Sometimes they go into partnership and "whack" on the proceeds of the evening's begging tournament.

A "catcher" wishes for no greater snap than a man who has just stepped out of some eating house with a tooth-pick between his teeth and a look of satisfaction on his countenance and a feeling of contentment with himself and with the world filling his soul.

These "catchers" learn to be good judges of human nature, and can tell when, if ever, and under what circumstances, a man's charitable feeling will assert itself. They invariably have some pathetic story to relate, in which the details of the circumstances which forced them into this humiliating position are eloquently and feelingly portrayed—if the chance passer-by is willing to listen to it.

Sunday is harvest day for the "catchers" and they "work" the down-town streets during the whole day. Often on Sunday the "catcher" appears as a little girl, almost respectably clad and heavily armed with a heartrending story of a bed-ridden and widdowed mother and not less than six or seven little famished brothers and sisters. Woe to the nice young man who dares to promenade Fourth or Fifth streets Sunday afternoon with his "best girl," for he is tackled at every corner and in the middle of the block. He could easily give away his week's salary in donations of five cents each in a promenade of fifteen or twenty blocks. Of course the nice young man with his best girl wouldn't wish to appear stingy and uncharitable, but on the other hand would wish to appear rather the opposite. These street "catchers" know this, and the nice young man falls their prey accordingly. Of course a great number of these vagrants are run in by the police and given "hours" the next morning, at the four courts. Of course they evade the police whenever they can, and are watchful not to ply their vocation when an officer is in sight.—St. Louis Republican.

Invention of a Papier Mache Coffin.

Some one not long since invented a papier mache coffin. Among the advantages claimed for it was its close resemblance to wood, its lightness, waterproof quality, and incombustibility, though why this latter quality should recommend the new casket is not apparent. The paper casket has been patented, but has not been put upon the market. Iron and bronze caskets have been for some time in favor, and recently marble caskets have come in. They are practically indestructible, being made of a composition of powdered marble dust and Portland cement, and molded and baked like pottery. A certain peculiar post mortem vanity has found gratification in transparent glass coffins, but hard wood is still more used than any other material, and for all practical purposes it is doubtless, as satisfactory as anything else. On the score of healthfulness, indeed, the less durable the casket the better for the surviving population of the earth.—Chicago Herald.

Character of Ralph Waldo Emerson.

Emerson never was a platform orator. He was purely an essayist. His manner was very far from energetic, and his subject matter unfit for a popular audience. He never drew a crowd twice. In all towns he had a handful of worshipers. He was one of the purest, most gentle of men. No committee was ever annoyed by his exactions. But if he had forgotten his manuscript, alas for everybody. He could do nothing. He had no ready wit. And he was very likely to forget his papers.

Emerson had a habit of seeing in people that which other people did not see. He was wonderfully interested in any nature that was downright earnest. If their views diverged sharply, all the better. His question was, how and why is this man so sincere? No one can be in dead earnest without there is a truth somewhere in him. He did not care to lecture, and it was with much difficulty that he was drawn far from Boston.—Globe-Democrat.

The Pronunciation of Beaufort, S. C.

The name of this place is pronounced Bew-fort, "and don't you forget it," as a native remarked. This is authentic and taken on the spot. Whatever the inhabitants call a place is the name of that place, no matter if it is spelled with eleven h's and pronounced Oshkosh. And whatever a man or family calls himself or itself, is the name thereof; though, like one of the noble families of Virginia, they spell it Taliaferro and call it Toliver. But that place in North Carolina with the same spelling is called Bo-fort, and that little inlet in Florida is called Boof-ert. All this is done, I suppose to illustrate the absurdity of our orthography.—"Parke" in Chicago Times.

Purifying the German Language.

The movement for purifying the German language has now the assistance of a special organ. A curious proof of the zeal with which this movement is being supported throughout Germany is seen in the fact that when, just recently, a bill was introduced in the Brunswick diet in which an excessive number of foreign words were unnecessarily used in the text, several members fell foul of the government and succeeded in passing a resolution requiring the purest German to be used for the future in the text of bills and state publications.—Chicago Tribune.

Not To Be Wondered At.

In Corea, so we are informed by a returned traveler, both men and women wear hats in and out of doors, varying in width from three to six feet. Under these circumstances, we are not surprised when we are told that there has not been a theatrical performance in Corea for the past four years.—Puck.

DEMOCRATIC RALLY.

It is announced in another column that a grand Democratic rally will take place at Union Hall this evening. Addresses will be made by W. E. McConnell, A. B. Ware, Frank L. Lane and T. J. Geary. As this will be the last meeting of the campaign there will no doubt be a large turn out.

THE St. Helena "Star" says that Sonoma Valley is jealous of Napa's viticultural productions. Now, brother Mackinder, you know better than that. Why should Sonoma Valley be jealous when she carried off the first premium—$300—and the gold medal at the late Mechanics' Fair for the best wines, brandies and grapes. That such jealousy does not exist is made more apparent from the fact that Napa, together with most of the counties in the State, unsuccessfully competed for that which Sonoma so easily won.

THE Sixth Annual State Convention of Fruit-Growers will meet in the Assembly chamber, at Sacramento on Monday, Nov. 15th, at 11 o'clock A. M. Every arrangement will be made to render this the most important and succesful gathering of Fruit-Growers ever held in the State. In order to advance the interest of horticulture and with the desire that the convention may be largely attended, the State Board of Horticulture cordially invites all those interested to be present and participate in its deliberations.

G. G. TYRRELL, M. D., Secretary of the State Board of Health, has placed us under obligations for the ninth biennial report of the same. It is published in pamphlet form, containing 282 pages and is replete with valuable statistics relating to the health and sanitary condition of the State. The report has been carefully and systematically prepared by Dr. Tyrrell, and we are pleased to say shows an improved sanitary condition of the State.

CHAS. BRADFORD was instantly killed at French Corral, Nevada county, by the bursting of a cannon while firing a salute for the Democratic meeting at that place on Saturday night of last week. He was struck by a section of the burst cannon and decapitated. His head was picked up one hundred feet from the body, and, strange to relate, the features were found to be unmarred.

THE fortune of the late Baron Meyer Rothschild of Frankfort is estimated at $150,000,000. His art collection, which is one of the finest and largest in the world, is left to his wife, Baroness Louisa, for life, after which it is to pass to Lord Rothschild.

"EQUAL rights and exact justice to all men" is the underlying principle of our Government. The American party is arrayed against that clause in our Constitution, and, this being so, we fail to see wherein its Americanism comes in.

BARTHOLDI'S grand statue of Liberty Enlightening the World was unveiled Thursday. The ceremonies were very imposing and were participted in by our sister Republic, France.

MRS. CORNELIA M. STEWART, wife of the late millionaire dry goods merchant, A. T. Stewart, died suddenly Monday morning at her residence, Thirty-fourth street and Fifth avenue, New York.

THE loss by fires in the United States and Canada up to October 1st for the year 1886, was $83,000,000, an increase of $13,000,000 over the same months of 1885.

BROWN, the young man who shot and killed his brother in Traver recently, has been found guilty of murder and sent to the penitentiary for life.

BAD ROADS.

The Sonoma INDEX-TRIBUNE complains of the bad condition of roads in that vicinity, and blames the Board of Supervisors for neglect. We suppose the Board thinks it the duty of the city of Sonoma to repair the roads.—[Santa Rosa Republican.

We don't know what the Board thinks, but we do know that when it made the tax levy last year and at its October meeting this year its apportionment to the Road Fund was altogether too small to meet the requirements of the Roadmasters and the wants of the people in the several districts, and the consequence will be impassable roads in many parts of the county the coming Winter. If the Supervisors were to consult the interests of the taxpayers they would see to it that sufficient money was apportioned each year to the several road districts to keep the public highways in a passable condition during the rainy season. But they do not do this, and in consequence our Roadmasters are roundly abused by the public for not repairing the bad places when in reality the Supervisors are to blame by withholding from them the necessary wherewithal to keep the roads in better condition. If the Supervisors would give less attention to that rattle-trap of a clock in the tower of the new Court House and to beautifying the grounds surrounding the same—that is to say, if they would pay more attention to the necessities of the people of the county and less to the luxuries, which alone are enjoyed by the inhabitants of a particular section—Santa Rosa—better roads, lighter taxes and a more contented people would be the inevitable result.

THE ELECTION.

The election for State and county officers takes place next Tuesday and before another issue of the INDEX-TRIBUNE the Fall campaign of 1886 will be a thing of the past. In our own county the Democratic and Republican conventions did a wise thing in putting forward good and honest men for the various positions of public trust. The INDEX-TRIBUNE recognizing this has done its level best to treat all the candidates fairly. That the nominees of both parties are honest and capable was all that this paper cared to know, and knowing this to be a fact we have had enough respect for the intelligence of our readers to allow them to seclect their own ticket and vote for whom they please.

A Few Hints on Tree and Vine Planting.

The season for planting trees and vines is near at hand and the following hints copied from the "Sacramento Bee," may prove of value to some of our readers: "Success in orchard or vineyard depends, primarily, upon a judicious choice of varieties, and a proper system of planting. Errors in these points are almost irretrievable. If fruit is to be grown for carriage in a fresh condition by rail to Eastern markets, the planter should first seek the advice of experienced shippers. They will warn him against the common mistake of attempting to grow too many kinds of fruit, and will show him how 10 or 20 acres in one kind pays better than a 'mixed' plantation. And they will be apt to tell him that he cannot grow too many Bartlett pears, too many apricots or early peaches, provided always that the fruit be of choice quality and of approved varieties for shipment. And we may add that there is a vast field for the horticulturist, independent of the shipping trade in fresh fruits. There is a practically unlimited market for various dried fruits, such as the raisin and prune, and no one can set limits to the profitable production of nuts, wine and olives. It is a trite saying, but a true one, that our fruit industry is yet in its infancy."

More Encouragement.

[Santa Rosa Democrat.]

Wm. H. Orr of the Santa Rosa and Benicia Railroad Company, has made another trip over the line of road, and reports a wonderful improvement in the minds of some of the property owners. Many of those who would not hear to any argument to their benefit, and who would not give a bagatelle to have the road, have completely changed their minds after consulting with their neighbors. They are not only anxious to have it go through, but have joined in the effort to convince the refractory ones of the foolishness of their conduct. One gentleman who at first said he would not allow them to go through his land for $2,000 an acre, has at last donated the ground.

TWENTY-NINE postmasters earned less than a dollar each last year.

THE REPUBLICAN MEETING.

An Enthusiastic Reception Accorded the County Candidates.

The Republicans of Sonoma turned out en masse last evening and accorded the county nominees of their party a grand reception at Union Hall, which had been tastefully decorated for the occasion.

After the Sonoma Brass Band had entertained those present with some well rendered music, James McDonnell, Jr., called the meeting to order in a few appropriate remarks and introduced Robert A. Poppe as chairman of the meeting.

Upon taking the Chair, Mr. Poppe referred to the excellent ticket the Republican County Convention had put forward for the suffrages of the people of Sonoma county. He wound up his remark by advising Republicans to support their county nominees.

J. A. Barham, candidate for the State Senate was then introduced and was warmly welcomed. Mr. Barham in a half-hours' speech reviewed the living issues of the day and his remarks on the tariff and free trade question was listened to with marked attention, and the gentleman was frequently interrupted by applause. Mr. Barham handled all the subjects he touched upon with consummate skill and made by far the best Republican speech that has been delivered in Sonoma during the campaign.

James McDonnell, Jr., candidate for the Assembly from this district, was the next speaker. As he made his bow he was greeted with loud and prolonged applause. When this had subsided, Mr. McDonnell made a brief speech defining his position on many of the leading questions of the day. At the conclusion of his remarks he was heartily applauded.

He was followed by C. S. Farquar, candidate for District Attorney and Ed. Colgan, candidate for Sheriff. Both gentleman were well received and got their share of applause.

Geo. W. Tupper, nominee for Treasurer, was then introduced by Chairman Poppe, who stated that Mr. Tupper was the six-hours' man of the party. The speaker sympathizing with his hearers, no doubt, cut down his speech about five hours and three-quarters, and kept the house in good humor for about fifteen minutes. He put in a good word for all the other candidates and came near forgetting himself.

Harry Brown, candidate for County Clerk, then came forward and promised if elected to fulfill the duties of his office to the best of his ability. He made a favorable impression.

Messrs. Naughton and King, nominees for Auditor and Assessor respectively, appeared in turn and made brief addresses, which were well received.

Mrs. Fannie McG. Martin, candidate for School Superintendent, was then presented to the audience by the Chairman, and the lady was accorded a perfect ovation. Mrs. Martin's remarks were sensible and pointed and proved her to be a lady of more than ordinary ability and well qualified for the position she seeks.

Hon. J. J. Henderson was the next speaker. He paid a glowing tribute to the worth and ability of Jas. McDonnell, Jr., candidate for the Assembly, and in eloquent language defended the rights of the poor man as against the rich. Mr. Henderson's remarks were received with bursts of applause, which, at their conclusion, were followed by three cheers for the Republican party and the Chairman announced the meeting adjourned.

JUDGE JNO. CAVANAGH.

The Democratic Nominee For the Assembly.

The gentleman whose name heads this article is the regular Democratic nominee for Assemblyman from this (the 25th) Assembly District. Judge Cavanagh is an old pioneer, having come to this State thirty-six years ago. Four years later found him farming on Russian River, where he remained six years. Tiring of tilling the soil he removed with his family to Petaluma, where he has continuously resided for twenty years. In that time he has been repeatedly honored by his townspeople with positions of official trust, and so popular has he been with his home people that he has been serving them uninteruptedly in one official capacity or another for the past twenty years. Years ago he was elected City Marshal, and after serving for three years he was elected Justice of the Peace, which office he held for fourteen years. Judge Cavanagh is now serving his sixth year as City Recorder of Petaluma, and his friends point with pride to his official record of two decades, which is without a stain or blemish. Judge Cavanagh for the first time in his life is now an aspirant for official honors outside of his own town, and as he is a gentleman well-knwn all over this section of the county for his official integrity, his private enterprise, and all those essentials that go to make up a thorough gentleman, he confidently relies upon the ballots not only of those of his own party, but also those of all shades of political opinion.

Departure of a Valued Citizen.

Ex-Consul J. J. Henderson has disposed of his vineyard in this valley and will in future devote himself exclusively to the practice of the law. Mr. Henderson's thorough legal training at the Albany Law School, his varied judicial experience as Register in Bunkruptcy for Oregon and as one of the Judicial Consuls in China, his successfull experience at the Bar in the United States and China, together with his world-wide observations as a traveler, insure his usefulness and success as a lawyer wherever he may go. During a five years' residence in Sonoma, Mr. Henderson has made many friends, who regret the departure of so polished a gentleman and valued a citizen. It was Mr. Henderson's high professional standing that secured for him unsough the nomination for Superior Judge of this county in oppos tion to Jackson Temple two years ago. Mr. Henderson for the present can be found with his family at the Grand Hotel, San Francisco.

COUNTY ITEMS.

Thieves are plying their vocation in Santa Rosa.

The Van Doren case has been postponed until next week.

Walter Green, a horse thief, has been sentenced to six years in the State Prison by Judge Pressley.

It is said that hundreds of tons of grapes in the vicinity of Cloverdale will be allowed to rot on the vines for want of cooperage.

Frank H. Denman has been elected cashier of the Bank of Sonoma County, Petaluma, vice Van Doren, the deposed cashier.

Martin Joyce and John Gailfoyle, who are charged with horse-stealing, have been bound over in the sum of $2,000 each to appear before the Superior Court.

An Indian named John cut his wife across the breast and throat on a ranch near Geyserville Wednesday. The woman is seriously injured. Whiskey was the cause.

Twelve freight cars were dicthed on the S. F. & N. P. R. R., near Penn's Grove, Tuesday night. No one was injured, but the damage to the cars amounts to several thousand dallars.

A mass meeting to discuss the projected railroad from Santa Rosa to Benicia will take place to-day in Santa Rosa. Addresses will be made by leading citizens who are interested in the project.

An ear of corn grown on Henry Wells' place on Russian river, was brought to the Santa Rosa "Democrat" office Thursday, which is deserving of mention. It measures 14½ inches in length by 8 inches in circumference.

Gailfoyle, who was arrested as the accomplice of Martin Joyce for stealing sixteen horses from Wm. Bihler, near Lakeville, has confessed the crime. He says that Joyce planned the scheme and they drove them off; that, Koch a third party under arrest for participation in the crime, is innocent. He has, therefore, been discharged.

We call our readers' attention to the "ad" of S. H. Mauzy, of Petaluma. You will find his prices lower, quality considered, than any house in the county. *

The ladies of the Congregational Church will hold their annual Fair at Union Hall on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, November 10th and 11th. *

Sheriff Bishop will be in Sonoma on the 22d of next month for the collection of taxes. The State and county tax is $1.30 on each $100 of valuation, outside of incorporated cities, where the rate is $1.12.

Three thousand seven hundred head of sheep were driven through this place last Wednesday morning. They were en route for Healdsburg and came from Davisville, Yolo county.

Mr. B. F. Campbell this week presented the INDEX-TRIBUNE with a box of grapes, among which was a bunch of the Chili Rose variety weighing 8½ pounds. This is the largest bunch on a single stem that we have ever seen.

Mr. J. Howard James, manager Stuckert's Livery, 619 N. 5th street, Philadelphia, Pa., says: After trying all other remedies without relief, for a heavy cold on the chest, accompanied by a severe cough, I used Red Star Cough Cure, and in a very short time was entirely well.

The following gentlemen will act as Judges and Inspector of election in this place next Tuesday: Robt. Howe (Dem.), Inspector; T. H. Cheney (Rep.) and Henry Winkle (Dem.), Judges. The polling place will be in the Justices' Court.

Now that the tree-planting season is near at hand our people are looking anxiously forward to see what action, if any, the new Trustees will take in the matter of planting trees in our Plaza. It is high time something was done toward redeeming that God-forsaken spot in the heart of town.

The Agua Caliente Springs Hotel, having been enlarged and refurnished is now one of the most elegant and attractive summer and winter resorts on the coast. Visitors will find the house supplied with every modern convenience, and no pains will be spared to make their stay pleasant and comfortable. Prices to correspond with the dull times. *

Clay Literary Society will hold its sixth literary entertainment and social hop at Union Hall on Thanksgiving night. An exceptionally fine program will be presented and good music will be furnished for the hop. The affair promises to be one of the best ever gotten up by the society. Additional particulars will be given from time to time. *

A good opportunity is offered this week in our advertising columns to any person who desires to engage in small farming to lease forty acres of as fine land as there is in Sonoma Valley. Fourteen acres are in vines, two in orchard and the balance is suitable for gardening. On this place is a dwelling house, barn, etc. Read advertisement for further particulars and if you want to lease a small farm you will see this is your opportunity.

The Odd Fellows of this place have decided to enlarge their lodge room and make other improvements in the interior of their building on Broadway. The lodge room will also be fitted up with new furniture and Brussels carpet. When these improvements are completed Sonoma Lodge, No. 28, will have one of the handsomest lodge rooms in the interior of the State. Work has already commenced and will be pushed forward to a speedy completion.

Mr. Shubrick Norris has purchased the J. J. Henderson place, situated two miles south of town. The property consists of lot 562 and part of lot 561, contaring forty-seven acres and the improvements thereon. Consideration, $8,000. The purchaser is a gentleman of means and will prove a very desirable acquisition to the population of Sonoma. He intends to improve his purchase by the erection of a new private residence, barns, outbuildings, etc., and will make it one of the lovely homes of Sonoma Valley.

Fresno Beaten.

There was picked one day last week, from an acre and a half of Malvoisie vines in the Green Oaks Vineyard, four miles east of town, 20 tons, 360 pounds of grapes. This is a little over 13⅓ tons to the acre. One Malvoisie vine yielded 91 pounds of grapes. From twelve acres of his Chasselas, Mr. Glaister, the owner of the Green Oaks Vineyard, informs us that he has made this season 12,000 gallons of wine—an even 1,000 gallons to the acre. These grapes were grown on unirrigated ground, as are all grapes and fruit in Sonoma Valley, and contained 23 per cent of sugar. Mr. G.'s vineyard is but one of many in this valley that have turned out like returns this season and will continue to turn out in the years to come.

Prolific Bearers.

As an indication of the mildness and uniformity of the climate of the Sonoma Valley we will state that B. F. Campbell, has a raspberry patch on his place, just outside the city limits, that has been bearing since last June. A small sprig from one of the vines containing a large number of the berries was sent to this office this week and we now have it on exhibition. These raspberry vines are growing out in the open air and unprotected from the elements. When the productiveness of the soil and mildness of the climate of Sonoma Valley become more thoroughly known, there will be scores of small farms devoted to the cultivation of small fruits where now there is one.

Leg Broken.

On Tuesday Mortimer Zane, aged nine years, son of J. W. Zane, living near Glen Ellen, while riding on the rear of a grape wagon, caught his left foot in one of the wheels, breaking both bones of the leg at the ankle joint. Dr. Davis of this place was summond to attend the little sufferer and set the broken limb and his patient, although the break is a bad one, is getting along comfortably.

Heavy Sale of Paving Blocks.

On Saturday last H. C. Manuel sold to C. B. Williams, the street contractor of San Francisco, 100,000 large paving blocks. Teams are now busy hauling the blocks to Embarcadero, from whence they will be shipped by schooner to Stockton, to be used in paving the streets of that city. This is the largest sale of basalt blocks that has ever been effected in this county in a single transaction.

Rara Avis.

There is to be seen on the farm of John Skinner, one mile from town, a fowl that is half chicken and half duck. This monstrosity has the head and neck of a chicken, while its body is that of a duck. Its feet are like a chicken's, but its powers of locomotion are those of a duck. This curiosity was hatched several months ago and is as lively as the usual run of fowls.

JAS. McDONNELL, JR.

The Nominee of the Republicans for the Assembly.

The subject of this sketch was born in Boston, Mass., in 1840, and is, therefore, just 46 years of age. Coming to this State 28 years ago, Mr. McDonnell entered the employ of E. H. Jones & Co., wholesale merchants of San Francisco, and remained with the firm for seventeen years, or until they went out of business. Eight years ago Mr. McDonnell came to Sonoma and settled down as a permanent resident. Being endowed with industrious habits and all the qualities that go to make up a good citizen he has made many friends in the Sonoma Valley, who have urged him forward as a candidate for the Assembly, and his is a case of the office seeking the man and not the man the office. Mr. McDonnell is a married man and has quite an interesting family of children, and has always taken a lively interest in everything that pertained to the wellfare of his townspeople. As an evidence of his popularity at home, it may be mentioned that at the Sonoma city election, held last Spring Mr. McDonnell received three votes to his opponent's one for the office of City Clerk. This was the first and only time he had run for office in his life, nor had he ever sought a nomination. Mr. McDonnell is an unpledged candidate and if elected will enter the Assembly Chamber free and untrammeled and can be counted on to battle for the interest of his constituents first, last and all the time. *

THE DEMOCRACY.

Their Enthusiastic Meeting Tuesday Evening.

Last Tuesday evening a grand reception was accorded Messrs. Tobin and Nicol and the Democratic county nominees by the members of the party in this town. Amid the booming of anvils, the glare of bonfires and torch-lights and a pyrotechnic display, the speakers of the evening, Col. J. J. Tobin and Hon. F. D. Nicol were escorted by the Sonoma Brass Band from the train, upon its arrival at 7:30 o'clock, to Union Hall, where they were joined by the county nominees. The hall and stage were beautifully decorated with floral designs and evergreens, the handiwork of the ladies of Sonoma, Mrs. J. R. Snyder, Mrs. G. P. Sears and Mrs. Capt. Stofen being the principal contributors.

Long before the time announced for the speaking the spacious hall was filled to overflowing, many ladies gracing the assemblage by their presence.

The meeting was called to order by Robert Howe, who, after a neat ten minutes' speech, introduced Col. Tobin. The speaker prefaced his address by complimenting the ladies of Sonoma for their magnificent floral offerings. He stated that he had visited many towns in the State during the campaign, but in none had he seen such beautiful floral pieces as were here to be seen; and nowhere had he been accorded such an enthusiastic reception by his fellow-citizens as here in Sonoma. Continuing he spoke three-quarters of an hour, was attentively listened to and loudly applauded.

Hon. F. D. Nicol, was then introduced and in a fiery thirty minutes speech went for the Republican party and its candidate for Governor. He was frequently interupted by bursts of applause, which deepened into a prolonged roar when he took his seat.

The county candidates turn then came. First appeared A. P. Moore, candidate for Recorder, who made a few remarks and promised if elected to conduct the affairs of the office in an honest and satisfactory manner. He was followed in the same vein by C. H. Burger for Sheriff; Wm. Longmore for Assessor; Judge Cavanagh for the Assembly; John Tivnen for Coroner; Capt. P. N. Stofen for Treasurer, and the balance of the ticket. Messrs. Stofen and Tivnen's reception was a pefect ovation which they acknowledged in a neat manner

After all the candidates had made their bow to their fellow-citizens, one of the most successful and enthusiastic Democratic meetings ever held in Sonoma adjourned with three cheers for the Democratic party.

Clay Literary Society.

The exercises at Clay Literary Society, Monday evening last, were very interesting. Among the numbers carried out was an original recitation, entitled "Old Batchelors," by Miss Mollie Carter, which was well received. This was followed by a comic song, entitled "Poor Old Maids," by Mr. Sloper, which brought forth rounds of applause. All those on the program rendered their part in a creditable manner and an enjoyable evening was the result. Next Monday evening the following program will be presented:

1—Singing ..... Society
2—Select reading ..... Dr. McMahan
3—Song ..... Cecilia Granice
4—Recitation ..... Miss Rose Wilson

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL.

Mrs. Dr. McMahan is visiting her parents in Suisun Valley.

Miss Rose Levy of San Francisco is visiting Mrs. K. Lewis.

F. Grothaus, formerly of this place, after an absence of three years, was in town visiting friends this week.

A quiet wedding took place last Sunday afternoon, the contracting parties being Mr. G. M. Chase of San Francisco and Miss Marie Seipp of Sonoma. Only relatives and a few intimate friends were present at the ceremony. After the usual congratulations the happy couple took the five o'clock train for San Francisco, which will be their future home. By the marriage of Miss Seipp, Sonoma loses one of her most estimable young ladies.

ANOTHER ARCTIC EXPEDITION.

Lieut. Brainard to Visit the Land of the Borealis.

[Albany Evening Journal.]

A "Journal" reporter recently met Lieut. David L. Brainard, one of the six survivors of the Greely expediton, now Sergeant of the United States Signal Corps, Washington, D. C., who passed through this city to visit his sister now living in Gray, Herkimer county. Mr. Brainard was born in Norway, in that county, twenty-nine years ago. The gallant survivor is a polished gentleman of classic features and an interesting conversationalist. In a pleasant chat with the reporter, he was asked many questions about his proposed return to the land of the midnight sun, and his replies are epitomized as follows:

I do contemplate returning to the Arctic regions in the spring of 1890 as the commander of a small expedition composed of twelve persons, distributed as follows: One naturalist, one surgeon, who will act as assistant naturalist, one astronomer, who will assist meteorological and magnetic observer, one meteorologist, one carpenter, one tinman, one blacksmith, one cook or steward, and three Eskimo dog drivers and hunters. The expedition will have for its object the exploration of Hays Sound and the bringing back of the original records and scientific collection of specimens abandoned at Fort Congor, in latitude 81 deg. 44 min. north, in the autumn of 1883. It is thought that we will be absent about fifteen months, but if, in order to complete our work of exploration, if it were necessary to remain two years, we would be prepared to do so.

Our dogs and their Eskimo drivers will be obtained from one of the Greenland colonies, through the co-operation of the Danish Government. The vessel, a medium-sized steam sealer from St. Johns, N. F., will be chartered and fitted out with provisions for two years. On entering Smith Sound a large depot of provisions will be established at a point near Rice Straits, and the vessel then moved northward to Fort Congor to bring back the records, specimens, &c., depots being made at various places along the coast to insure a safe retreat in the event of disaster to the vessel. When the specimens are loaded the vessel will return to Smith Sound and go into winter quarters at Alexander harbor, latitude 78 deg. 50 min. north, about fifteen miles west of Cape Sabine.

A few miles to the westward of the place selected as our winter quarters we will enter on territory which has never been trodden by the foot of civilized man, and there is no field within the Arctic circle which offers to explorers such splendid inducements as this unknown region. It is bounded on the east by longitude 77 degrees west, and on the west by the 85th meridian. If there exists a passage westward to the Greely Ford—the furthest point reached by Lockwood and myself in 1883—our cairn marking our furthest point south on the shore of that body of water will be visited and a strenuous effort will be made to explore to the northward the Grinnell Land coast line to the point attained by Lieut. Archer, R. N., in the spring of 1876, and thus will the configuration of the entire coast of Grinnell Land have been accurately determined. Physical and scientific observations will be carried on at the station by a competent corps of observers, but in no wise will these observations conflict or interfere with the work of exploration, the paramount object of the expedition.

After the departure of the vessel the first season, a small house will be erected near the head of the bay, and at once the scientific observations will be commenced, and the work of laying out caches of provisions for use in the sledging operations of the following spring. A vessel will visit us in the spring of 1891 to convey us back to this country, but should our work be not fully accomplished we would remain one year longer. The money to defray the expenses will be raised by private contributions, and the approximate amount will not be far from $50,000. My object in waiting so long before starting is that I may have a thorough restoration of my broken health, and to enable me to provide for the use of the expedition a complete and reliable set of instruments and a full and complete equipment for sledging and other work.

"THAT DEVIL DAN."

General McClellan's Famous Horse and How He Faithfully Served His Owner.

[New York Mail and Express.]

The late General McClellan's famous horse, Dan Webster, receives a just and kindly tribute from the pen of his owner in the forthcoming book of the General's. It is given in connection with an account of one of the battles of the Army of the Potomac. There was delay on the march. "But as I had my most trustworthy horse, Dan Webster," writes the General, "I made better progress than was agreeable to the escort, most of whom had been left behind when I reached the scene of battle. Dan was one of those horses that could trot all day long at a very rapid gait which kept all the other horses at a galop. I think it was on this ride that he earned from the aides the title of 'that Devil Dan,' a name which he justified on many another long and desperate ride before I gave up the command of the Army of the Potomac.

"Dan was the best horse I ever had. He never was ill for an hour, never fatigued, never disturbed under fire, and never lost his equanimity or his dignity, except on one accasion. That was when we abandoned the position at Harrison's Bar, under the orders to return to Washington. From a very natural feeling I remained there until all the trains and troops had left, and sending forward all the escort and staff, remained alone in the works for a little time, my mind full of the fatal consequences of the order I was forced to carry into execution. At length I mounted and rode out to join the escort; as I passed through the abandoned works Dan for the first time in his life gave vent to his feelings by a series of most vicious plunges and kicks. It was possible that the flies, who had enjoyed a whole army to feed upon, concentrated all of their energies upon Dan; but I have always more than suspected that, in his quiet way, Dan understood the condition of affairs much better than the authorities at Washington, and merely wished to inform me in his own impressive manner that he fully agreed with my views as to the folly of abandoning the position, and that he, at least, had full confidence is his master.

"Dan and I never quarreled, and the dear old fellow survived the war many years, dying at a ripe old age in 1879. No matter how long we might be parted—once for nearly four years—he always recognized me the moment we met again, and in his own way showed his pleasure at seeing me. Even on the day of his death, which was a painless one from old age, whenever I entered his stall he tried to rise and greet me, but, unable to do that, would lean his head against me and lick my hand. No soldier ever had a more faithful or better horse than I had in Dan Webster."

Will Never Come Back Alive.

[Texas Siftings.]

"I am a straw widow," said Mrs. Yerger to a friend who called at the house.

"Is your husband out of town?"

"No, he might as well be. I'll not see him again for a week. He is in the library with a bound volume of London "Punch," and he said he was going to read them until he found a joke."

"I guess he was joking himself when he said that. He really could not have meant it."

"FERNANDINA, Nassau Co., Fla., March 29, 1886.—I have used Dr. Simmons Liver Regulator and always found it to do what is claimed for it. The last bottle and two packages did me no good and were worse than nothing. I see it is not put up by J. H. Zeilin & Co., and not genuine, and a waste of money to buy it. I would be glad to get the pure and genuine. Send me some from honest hands (with red Z. and Zeilin & Co.'s signature on wrapper). The fictitious stuff sold will injure some one badly.

Miraculous Escape.

W. W. Reed, druggist, of Winchester, Ind., writes: "One of my customers, Mrs. Louisa Pike, Bartonia, Randolph Co., Ind., was a long sufferer with Consumption, and was given up to die by her physicians. She heard of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and began buying it of me. In six months' time she walked to this city, a distance of six miles, and is now so much improved she has quit using it. She feels she owes her life to it. Free trial bottles at all Drug Stores. 6

Everything Goes Wrong

In the body mechanism when the liver gets out of order. Constipation, dyspepsia, contamination of the blood, imperfect assimilation, are certain to ensue. But it is easy to prevent these consequences, and remove their cause, by a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which stimulates the bilitary organ and regulates its action. The direct result is a disappearance of the pains beneath the ribs and through the shoulder blade, the nausea, headaches, yellowness of the skin, furred look of the tongue, and sour odor of the breath, which characterize liver complaint. Sound digestion and a regular habit of body are blessings also secured by the use of this celebrated restorative of health, which imparts a degree of vigor to the body which is its best guarantee of safety from malarial epidemics. Nerve weakness and over-tension are relieved by it, and it improves both appetite and sleep.

A European horticulturist affirms that washing before cooking impairs the flavor of vegetables. Dirt should be removed with a cloth or brush, or, if washing cannot be avoided, it should be postponed until the moment before cooking is commenced.

AGENTS WANTED for the MISSOURI STEAM Washer Active, honest persons all over the country, with or without team.

JOHN C. EVANS, Stockland, Ills., writes: "I stand up $26 after what a Washer does more labor and money in a large family than any Reaper and Mower that ever was put on any farm with less than 100 acres to cultivate. If you will get up any instrument that will take as much labor off of men as this Washer takes off the women, and save as much money as it does and cost no more, I can't sell one at every house. If they had to take the feathers from under their wife and babies to pay for it." JOHN R. DODGE, JR., jeweler, Normal, Ills., writes: "You ask what I think of the Washer I bought last summer. Ist. It is the best machine ever invented by man. 2d. We have just as good dinners on Monday as on any other day. 3d. If you run short, you can not buy ours for $100." I will ship a sample to those desiring an agency on a week's trial on liberal terms. A thousand per cent the best washer in the world for saving labor, clothes and soap. Pays capable agents big money. Write for particulars.
